HAPPIER AND BETTER WAY.

When your boy goes away to war don't make the parting an outward agony. Don't conjure up in your own mind and his an accumulation of the horrors of war and pile them all upon his back. Don't in your own mind mark him for death and wounds and disease and magnify him and his dangers into the casualties of a whole company; for the fact is that the death rate of the allied armies is only four to one of the death rate of the same men of the same age at home and in peace.
Moreover, he must go, is going with a brave heart and in a great cause, keeping his poise, walking and looking like a man and a hero. You owe it to him to keep your poise and bid him good bye with hope instead of despair in your heart and on your face and tongue.

Tell him to be brave. Tell him that you trust him and know that he will do his part. Tell him that a brave man dies only once and that a coward suffers death and worse than death every minute of his life.
Show him that he has a right to courage by inheritance.

He will come back. Most of the boys will come back. Let's bend our energies to live bravely and well to greet them when they do come back.
Let's keep ourselves fit, fit to carry on our part at home, fit to seek out and bring home under our watchful care and love our own wounded if such event shall come to us.

Smile in his face as he goes. Tell him you shall never have him and his welfare out of mind until he comes home again. Tell him you will be waiting there where you stand to see him go. Tell him you are proud of him. Tell him that you bred him and cared for him and taught him and that you trust him to carry himself as your son in camp and trench. Tell him that this country is worth fighting for and that you will stand in line with the great reserve of fathers and mothers behind the sons of America. Meet your battle of parting as he will meet his battles against physical foes and moral temptations. Give him the knowledge that he came of a clean, brave stock.

Send the boys away with the certainty that we are behind them, a phalanx of brave hearts and willing hands unbreakable. Match his bravery and courage. Help him keep his courage in the face of those who crowd to cheer him on his way. He deserves all and more than that from you and from all of us.

Know pride in your sons. Step proudly. Keep a brave front. Be a patriot, as he is a soldier. Do your duty as he does his. It is the happier and better way.

A PRINCE AMONG MEN.

For years and years the name of George W. Stainback has been familiar to the people of Nashville, a household word to every boy, girl, man and woman. He is and has always been a high-class southern gentleman of the old school whose creed is equal and exact justice to all men.
He is the acme of goodness, and is idolized by all who know him. He is a candidate to succeed himself as commissioner of streets, sewers and sidewalks, his record is an open book, his tenure of office has been free from even a suspicion of graft or scandal. He has done well and ought to be re-elected. As a friend of labor, he has no peer. Asking any man who labors, and he will tell you that Stainback's life is as clean as a hound's tooth.

The laboring man of Nashville may search far and wide, but they'll not find a better friend than Geo. W.
Stainback. He is the one true friend of the man who toils and the man who toils knows it. It is true he has been in office a few years, but you never turn down a true and tried servant for an experiment. Experiments are costly.

THE MAYOR'S RACE.

We again repeat our assertions made in these columns from time to time, Hilary E. Howse is the undoubted choice of the voters of this municipality. That being true, he will be elected on the 27th without question. He has the permanent affection of the toiling masses, because he is a man who does things, the right thing, at the right time. No red tape methods obtain with him when people in distress or want call upon his bounty. He has his first time to turn the cold shoulder to worthy sufferers. He is the man the people love and trust. He does not court the limelight of publicity but unostentatiously goes about doing good for his fellowman. His record will bear the scrutinizing search light of any kind of investigation and he will emerge untarnished and unstained. Hilary E. Howse is the choice of the people and they are going to stand by him.

THE SCHOOLS.

Thanks to the good women of Nashville, who called upon Superintendent Keys and protested against the housing of our children in the old Knowles School building, which is unsafe, unsanitary, and a veritable fire trap. We sincerely hope that the school board will see the wisdom of the women's prayer and grant relief.
We surely need it. There is no denying the fact that the Negroes of Nashville are not getting a square deal from the School Board. The new high school building is remote from the street cars, some of the schools are crowded beyond their capacity, some of the buildings are deficient of everything sanitary.
The course of study in the high school is mediocre. There are no facilities, as they should be, for the teaching of writing, drawing and music, and many other things might be said but the above will suffice for a while. It seems as if our male population are indifferent as to the schools. They don't try to remedy anything. Let the good women keep the matter before the school board.

COMMISSIONER OF WATER-WORKS.

The office of the commissioner of waterworks and workhouse has been admirably administered under the able care of Robt. Elliott, who aspires to succeed himself. Mr. Elliott has done well, and deserves the office again. He has been true to every pledge made to his constituency, he has proven a better foe to extravagance in office, he has saved the city thousands of dollars, he has given us pure water and clean streets. What more can you ask? To turn him down now would be base ingratitude.
He has done all that the taxpayers have asked. Let him stay in office.

We do not wish to treat our fel-lowmen with any unnecessary unkindness, so we here and now say that when we have chicken pot pie on Sundays one would be sadly lacking in tender and generous sentiments to ring our door bell about meal time.

Faith is something that enables a man to believe that his misdeeds have all been forgiven, even though he knows that his neighbor is waiting for him with a shotgun just around the corner.

Married men, as a rule, make brave and persistent fighters; but once in a while one gives up in the midst of a strenuous campaign and asks the Judge for a furlough.

We have two classes of unfortunates in this old vale of tears and laughter: those who can't get their minds on their work and those who can't get theirs off it.

The unutterable wearisome gut-footed-would-be politician should so away back and sit down, as he is a millstone around any candidate's neck.

But, the simple and homely office girl is exceptionally good at attending to other people's business, and arrogating to herself overstrained authority.

After taking a surlout at the Matine returns, the White House pickettes doubtless will feel stimulated to redouble their highly profitable efforts.

One of the most beautiful traits that make up the character of Hilary E. Howse is charity. The voters know it, and will act accordingly.

And it would be prodigiously stupid to pass a watermelon patch at 1
a. m. without making an officious investigation of the vines.

It is highly necessary that we visit our old friend, Phil Brown, at Hopkinsville, in order to fulfill a pressing and legitimate desire.

The mobilization of school children promptly at the appointed time all over the country was a handsome performance also.

Even the flag, it appears, does not give infallible protection to the intruder within Giles county watermelon patches.

There are five United States senators who could serve their country best by resigning. Can you name 'em?

In expecting every man to do his duty America means also to include the man whose duty it is to shut up.

The fact that a thing is convenient is enough in itself to condemn the thing in some people's minds.

Hilary E. Howse is incorruptible and undefeatable, and the voters are going to stand by him.

A cook in the army is a "master baker," but he has to cook just the same as a plain cook.

The senate resolution to draft a million aliens hits another class who had rather eat than fight.

If you can't keep your loyalty on straight you might practice keeping your mouth shut.

A strike in American shipyards is an effective adjunct to the German U-boat campaign.

You never knew any one so worthless he couldn't get a letter of recommendation.

When a senate goes sixty-nine to four, it is wholly superfluous to name the four.

No man is likely to begin a flirtation unless the prospects look good.

There are none so blind as those who refuse to see it your way.

A lot of patriotism going around is love of being in the limelight.

The quickest way to start a fight is to promote a peace meeting.

HOW TO SERVE
ALL-WHEAT
LESS MEALS

Begin Now To Use More
Corn Meal and Less
Wheat Flour.

"Begin today to eat more cornmeal and hominy grits in place of wheat flour and wheat breakfast foods," is the message of the United States department of agriculture in sending out broadcast to housewives.
"Try a wheatless breakfast tomorrow and then extend the wheatless idea to other days or meals," the dietary specialists suggest.

To help the public use cornmeal as a wheat substitute, the department has ordered large editions of farmers' bulletin 565, "Cornmeal as a Food and Ways of Using It," which will be sent on request to all who apply for it. This bulletin shows that cornmeal dishes can be made to take the place of those made of wheat, and supplies more than fifty tested recipes for its use for breakfast, luncheon and dinner.

Learn to Use Corn.

Corn, a great natural breadstuff of this country, the department's specialists point out, has not been used for human food nearly as much as its valuable nutritive qualities warrant. This is due largely to the fact that many persons with a wheat-using habit never have taken the pains to learn to use corn. There is no important diet difference between corn and wheat as sources of body fuel. Bread is convenient as a source of starch and protein, but in the ordinary mixed diet it makes little difference whether one gets the required cereal ration in the form of raised or light bread, mixed bread or biscuits, or as much, hominy grits or desserts.

To those who wish to try wheat-less meals the department suggests the following:

Some Suggestions For Uses of Corn.
As a substitute for wheat breakfast foods, try white or yellow corn meal or hominy grits, served with cream and sugar, butter, syrup, or fresh or dried fruit.

As a substitute for wheat biscuits, rolls or toast, the hominy grits can be employed in a dozen different forms of corn bread, such as hoe cake, dodgers, soft or spoon corn bread, hominy bread, corn meal and rye, Boston brown bread, Zuni Indian bread, etc.

Fried corn meal mush, fried hominy, or cornmeal pancakes made with very little wheat flour, will be found a pleasing variation from wheat cakes.

Corn meal codfish cakes, corn meal scramble, corn meal croquettes, corn meal or hominy cooked with meat, fish, cheese, eggs or milk, will supply nourishing dishes for the hearty courses.

Hominy grits and coarse hominy (sometimes called samp) may be boiled and used like macaroni or other wheat pastes to serve as side dishes with meat.

For dessert, Indian pudding, corn meal and fig or apple pudding, apple dumplings, corn meal doughnuts, gingerbreads, cake, fruit gems, etc., will contribute variety as well as nourishment to the bill of fare.

The housewife who wishes to substitute corn for some, but not all, of the wheat flour can make excellent raised or light bread, pancakes, waf-les, muffins, rolls, graham flour, Indian bread, etc.

That wheat, rice, rye, barley, oats, corn and potatoes are largely interchangeable as sources of starch in the diet is made clear in Farmers' bulletin 808, "How to Select Foods —What the Body Needs."

YOU CAN
HAVE LONG
STRAIGHT
HAIR

If Anxious to Improve Your Hair and General Appearance Read
This Carefully

There are so many so-called hair-growers on the market, a large number of which are nothing more than perfumed grease, it is no wonder people get discouraged and lose faith in all hair tonics. In deciding on what to use on your scalp be sure and get a remedy of proven merit. Seeb's Quinade is a highly medicated pomade that has stood the test of time.
It is the invention of a New York chemist, and is made under the personal supervision of a licensed pharmacist of many years' experience.
Quinade stimulates and nourishes the roots of the hair, causing a natural growth of long hair. It makes the hair soft, smooth and glossy, and easy to put up in the style desired.
To get the best results from the use of Quinade the scalp should be shampooed at regular intervals with Seeb's Quinade. Quinade is made entirely out of vegetable oils, principally coconut oil, and contains no animal fat of any kind. It lathers very freely and is a thorough cleanser. Quinade leaves the hair soft and fluffy, and imparts a refreshing feeling to the scalp, unequalled by any other shampoo.

Do not accept any substitute, but insist on getting Seeb's Quinade and Seeb's Quinade, asking for them by the full name. If your druggist or dealer does not stock these two articles ask him to obtain them for you from his wholesaler. The price is 25c each. Write to Seeb's Drug Co., 79 East 130th street, New York City, for a sample, mentioning the name of this paper—Adv.
